Dear friends, colleagues, partners!

The year 2014 will go down in the history of Ukraine as the year of a great victory of people over tyranny and impending doom.

The Revolution of Dignity has changed Ukraine, reflecting the power and will of our people to live in a successful country, where respect for human freedom, rule of law, and justice can be observed.

The preceding year has brought us unprecedented challenges. Ukraine's aspirations to find its true place within Europe and its longing for an independent future has aroused resistance not only from domestic opponents, but from an external aggressor as well. The assault of the Russian Federation on Ukraine's independence and unity, the annexation of Crimea, and an aggressive proxy war in the East of our country have created a huge gap between the freedom-loving and democratic way of thinking in Ukrainian society and the totalitarian and expansionist logic of the current leadership of the Kremlin. That said, however, no power is able to stop the aspirations and hopes of our country.

The changes in Ukraine have left their impact on the activities of the Open Ukraine Foundation. I am grateful to all partners, friends, and guests of the Foundation for an active and meaningful dialogue in 2014.

Immediately after the victory of Maidan and following the Russian aggression, the Kyiv Security Forum was held, and that became a significant gathering of international leaders in support of Ukraine.

Development of cooperation with international intellectuals and public figures, special attention to the professional training of youth, a significant emphasis on educational projects in the field of information security, international relations, and the development of civil society – these areas have been among the priorities of the foundation and so it will remain in the future.

It is important that the Open Ukraine Foundation has broadened the framework of its activity. Very important projects concerning aid to the temporarily displaced nationals from the eastern part of Ukraine and our military servicemen were within the field of view of the foundation. Tangible efforts were focused on initiatives and actions aimed at strengthening our civic cohesion and national unity.

We are all together a big family, the name of which is Ukraine.

I am thankful to the team of the foundation for their active work, work which I indeed appreciate. This work is dedicated to Ukraine; during challenging times such personal involvement, dedication, and commitment are of great value for our common victory and the bright future of our nation and state.

I wish you all confidence and inspiration to continue to implement the high mission goals that open Ukraine to the world, and at the same time provide Ukraine with new ideas, opportunities, and prospects.

Sincerely yours,
Arseniy Yatsenyuk

INTERNATIONAL DIALOGUE PROGRAM

Mission:

- To ensure participation of Ukraine in the European discourse on key political, security and socio-economic issues.

The 7th Kyiv Security Forum

“On the Fault Line: Security In-between” – this was the theme of the 7th Kyiv Security Forum which was held on 10-11 April, 2014. More than 400 international and Ukrainian leaders, representatives of political, business, and social circles from more than 20 countries discussed global security trends and challenges in contemporary international relations. The main theme of the forum was dedicated to the contemporary events in Ukraine and at its borders, their background, and the possible consequences for the state, region, Europe and even the world as a whole.

Arseniy YATSENYUK,
Founder of the Open Ukraine Foundation, the Prime Minister of Ukraine

underscored the necessity of elaborating a new common security model for Europe, because “military intervention by Russia in Ukraine destroyed its fragmentary security system and which, unfortunately, did not receive an adequate response”.

Carl BILDT,

Prime Minister of Sweden (1991-1994), Minister of Foreign Affairs of Sweden (2006-2014) noticed that “events in Ukraine and around Ukraine actually mean securing the borders of Europe”.

David KRAMER,

Freedom House President, urged the Western states to prevent a repetition of the unsuccessful Egyptian revolution scenario in Ukraine.

The 7th Kyiv Security Forum

Lamberto ZANNIER,
OSCE Secretary General, views the crisis in Crimea as a
'line of rupture' between Euro-Atlantic and Eurasian security spaces.

Jerzy BUZEK, Euro-MP, Prime Minister of Poland (1997-2001), President of the European Parliament (2009-2012) said that the struggle of the Ukrainians for their freedom, their willingness to sacrifice their lives for the sake of better future, should 'awaken' Europe and put fundamental values into the center of its attention again.

INTERNATIONAL DIALOGUE PROGRAM

Miroslav LAJCÁK,
Deputy Prime Minister, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Slovakia outlined the possibilities of cooperation between Ukraine and Slovakia in energy issues and stressed the readiness of the Slovak government to provide reverse-flow deliveries of gas to Ukraine.

Victoria NULAND,

Assistant Secretary of State for European and Eurasian Affairs considers Russian interference into the process of amending the Constitution of Ukraine unacceptable. In her opinion, Russia should promote disarmament of illegal units and not abet a breakup of the country.

Other Charity Activities of the Open Ukraine Foundation

The year 2014 was extremely complex and busy for Ukraine.

Besides scheduled projects, Tereziya Yatsenyuk, Head of Supervisory Council of the Open Ukraine Foundation, paid attention to IDPs from the ATO area and the support of military servicemen.

"It is a time when Ukrainians should rally, offer each other a hand and shoulder of fraternal assistance. We cannot stand aside, therefore, we try to make every effort so that people who have temporarily lost their homes and moved to other regions would feel that Ukraine is together with them that we are here and ready to support" - Tereziya Yatsenyuk.

Концерт з нагоди 200-річчя від дня народження Тараса Шевченка та вшанування пам'яті Героїв «Небесної сотні»

On 29 March, 2014, with the assistance of Tereziya Yatsenyuk, a concert was held to celebrate the 200th anniversary of Taras Shevchenko's birthday and commemorate the Heroes of the "Heavenly Hundred". Award winners of international and national competitions performed classic Ukrainian vocal and instrumental works and read excerpts of the poems "Caucasus" and "To the Dead and Alive, and Unborn ..." by Taras Shevchenko.

OTHER CHARITY

In the spring of 2014, Ukrainian artists performed for soldiers in the military units of the Dnipropetrovsk, Kirovohrad and Kyiv regions in connection with the All-Ukrainian action "People's Philharmonic". Tereziya Yatsenyuk, Head of the Supervisory Council of the Open Ukraine Foundation, mentioned that "the thing needed by our military servicemen is attention from society, and art is a tool that can enhance their spirit and determination".

Since May, 2014, Tereziya Yatsenyuk has been helping displaced persons who are in the sanatorium "Tetativ" in the Zhytomyr region. In this time more than 400 people have been consistently provided with humanitarian aid, particularly in the form of dairy products delivered weekly to the resort, and with the onset of colder temperatures, heaters were installed.

In the summer of 2014, a trip to the National Museum of Folk Architecture and Life of Ukraine in Pirogovo was organized for children from large families from the ATO area temporarily residing in Kyiv. During the visit to the open air museum children could participate in various workshops: boys could try themselves at blacksmithing, and girls at making dolls. "Today, there are extremely many people in Ukraine who need help. In such circumstances every expression of attention is valuable. We made sure that for the families of IDPs, this trip became a great opportunity to relax, communicate, and get new, positive experiences," - said Tereziya Yatsenyuk.

In December 2014, Tereziya Yatsenyuk, together with students of form 5-A of the secondary school №89 (Kyiv), of which her younger daughter Sofia is a pupil, joined the all-Ukrainian action "Gifts from St. Nicolas for heroes". Along with gifts of candy, Ukrainian soldiers received letters and drawings, warm clothes, and patriotic souvenirs. "The children created sweet presents for our defenders, our heroes. I sincerely believe that our soldiers can feel the warmth of children's hands, emotions, and energy that went into the preparation of their sweet gifts. May this support save them from all woes, and anticipate the victory of Ukraine", said the Head of Supervisory Council of the Open Ukraine Foundation.
