Dear friends, colleagues, and partners,

The year 2015 was the first year of profound change and transformation in Ukraine.

Primarily, the national government exerted every possible effort to stabilize the economic situation. With national debt totaling $73 billion, we were facing possible economic collapse, which could have led to unpredictable and uncontrollable consequences. The emergency measures taken by the government team is stopping the threat, preventing default, restoring economic health, restructuring foreign debt, gaining international financial support, and observing signs of growth and recovery for the first time within two years.

We have given an armed response to Russia, continued the international legal persecution of the aggressor, and for the first time in history could free ourselves from energy supply dependence on the Kremlin.

We have created a new army and a new police force. Large-scale reductions and lustration of top state officials were carried out in the country and a revolution within the civil service was launched as a new progressive law conforming the system to European standards was passed.

Deregulation of the economy, which will improve the business environment and simplify administrative services relating to every citizen, was one of those significant results of the measures taken, and was one which I personally appreciate. The adoption of a revolutionary law on state procurement proposed by the government was equally important.

We have aligned our nation more with European values. In March, 2014, I had the honor of signing the political segment of the Association Agreement with the European Union, a task which once seemed to be an unattainable dream. Now the agreement on a free trade zone with the EU has been in force since January 1, 2016. Ukraine has done everything necessary so that the European Commission could give a positive recommendation regarding the provision of a visa-free regime. Brussels has acknowledged that our country now meets the necessary criteria.

I am glad that in terms of these broad-scale developments, the team of the Open Ukraine Foundation could demonstrate clear and dynamic vision, expanding its projects and interests, and broadening views and possibilities in general.

I fully support the ambitious goal of the talented representatives of the Open Ukraine Foundation to consolidate the authority of the Kyiv Security Forum as an important European platform for discussion and initiative.

The foundation's work was quite fruitful last year: it continued developing cultural initiatives, expanded its activities towards cooperation with the military hospital in Irpin, launched an educational program "Discover yourself", carried out numerous youth-oriented events – workshops, trainings, exchange visits. The highlight of the foundation's work with youth was the creation of the Youth Council of the Foundation.

I thank the foundation team for this work.

We work for Ukraine and our people. Every good step taken, each interesting opinion and useful initiative given, is a contribution to the development of our country and a way to change the world around us.

Let's continue opening Ukraine together with all our partners, guests and supporters, whose help is vital for us, as it is the way we are opening new perspectives for a good and dignified life in our society.

With gratitude and respect,
Arseniy Yatsenyuk

PROGRAM INTERNATIONAL DIALOGUE

Frank-Walter STEINMEIER,
Minister for Foreign Affairs of Germany noted that “the conflict in Ukraine is not a result of Kyiv’s endeavors to increase cooperation with Brussels, but the result of a policy of confrontation chosen by Russia”.

Mission:

- To ensure participation of Ukraine in European discourses on key political, security and socio-economic issues
- To enhance understanding by the international community of the processes occurring in the Ukrainian society

The 8th Kyiv Security Forum

“No Security without Values” (29th Story of Freedom) – this was the theme of the 8th Kyiv Security Forum which was held on 29-30 of May, 2015. More than 600 international and Ukrainian leaders, representatives of political, business and social circles from more than 20 countries discussed global security trends and challenges in contemporary international relations.

The main theme of the forum was dedicated to the contemporary events in Ukraine and at its borders, their background, and the possible consequences for the state, region, Europe, and even the world as a whole.

Arseniy YATSENYUK, Founder of the Open Ukraine Foundation, the Prime Minister of Ukraine underscored that the conflict that is taking place at the moment on the territory of Eastern Ukraine has a geopolitical dimension. “Is Russia fighting only against Ukraine? No, that is a fight against the free world, against values and democracy”, - he said.

INTERNATIONAL DIALOGUE PROGRAM

Eiki NESTOR,

President of the Estonian Parliament acknowledged that not all European politicians dare use the word 'war' for the developments in Eastern Ukraine. However, "today Russia is trying to establish new borders in Europe and Estonia used to feel pressure from that Eastern neighbor as well".

Andrius KUBILIUS,

is convinced that "the EU has chosen an inadequate policy of non-triggering towards Russia. However, this approach, this weakness provokes Russian leadership only to new aggressive actions".

The 8th Kyiv Security Forum

Alexander VERSHBOW

Deputy Secretary-General of NATO stressed that “Russia is doing everything possible to prevent its neighbors from going their own way. This applies to both Georgia and Moldova, and Ukraine. The Kremlin believes that these countries must belong to the zone of Russia’s privileged influence”.

Dalia GRYBAUSKAITE,

President of Lithuania urged the democratic states to defend Ukraine’s right for self-determination and territorial integrity, and added that “the international community should not be lenient towards an exponential violation of universal democratic values demonstrated by the aggressor”.

Natalia YARESKO, Minister of Finance of Ukraine believes that Ukraine is exiting the crisis that began as a result of the activity of the previous government, war, and the annexation of Crimea.

Lilia SHEVTSOVA,
Brookings Institution Senior Research Fellow (USA) views the system of personal power that has been functioning during centuries as the main problem of Ukraine has become a victim of this system, "the system, posing the geopolitical and civilizational threat".
